BIENNIAL ELECTIONS.

AMENDMENT NO. 4.

SECTION 1. Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio. That propositions shall be submitted to the electors of this state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1889, to amend Section 25 of Article II. Sections 2 of Article II. Sections 19 of Article III. Sections 2 and 4 of Article XI. and to create Section 11, of Article IV. Section 12 of Article VIII. Sections 2 and 4 of Article X. and Section 3 of Article XVI. of the Constitution of the State of Ohio, so they shall read as follows:

ARTICLE IL

SEC. 25. The regular session of each General Assembly shall commence on the first Monday of January next after it is chosen.

SEC. 18. Whenever the office of secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, or attorney general becomes vacant, for any of the causes mentioned in Section 15 of this Article, the Governor shall fill the vacancy by appointment for the residue of the term, or until the disability is removed.

ARTICLE IV

ARTICLE IV.

Sec. 2 The Supreme court shall, until otherwise provided by law, consist of five judges, majority of whom, competent to sit, shall be necessary to fatm a quorum or prohomore a decision, except as herein provided. It shall have original jurisdiction in quo warranto, mandamus, habeas corpus, and procedendo, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law. The judges of the Supreme court shall be elected by the electors of the state at large, and for such term of even years as may be provided by law. Whenever the number of such judges is increased, the General Assembly may authorize the court to organize divisions thereof, not exceeding three, each division to consist of an equal number of judges; and such an assignment of cases shall be made to each division as a unjority of each division shall be necessary to form a quorum; but whenever and the judges may direct. A majority of each division shall be necessary to form a quorum; but whenever a case in any division as all the judges hearing a case in any division shall not concur in a cerision, or whenever a case involves the constitutionality of a statute, or the construction of the Constitution of this state or of the United States, it shall be reserved to the whole court for decision.

SEC. 5. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits of compact territory, bounded by county lines, in each of which the same number of eigent judges, residing therein, shall be elected by the electors thereof, and for such term of even years as may be provided by law, and shall be held in each county at least once in each year, and more than one court may be held at the same time in any circuit. A circuit judge may be assigned to hold court in any circuit. The Circuitcourt shall have the same original jurisdiction as the Supreme court, and such appellate jurisdiction as may be provided by law.
